Nevada County Mine Work Check Quarter Million

This District the Most Active on Mother Lode

The best news developed during the past few days for mining interests in Nevada county is the settlement, to all practical purposes, of the dispute between employers and miners. At the mass meeting of Miner's Protective League last Sunday, an almost unanimous decision was reached to postpone action until July 31, at which time it was believed a mining industry code will be adopted, which will probably solve the problems now confronting the industry, miners and mine owners. The decision reached by the League came as the result of the good offices of Robert D. Calkins, vice chairman of the State Regional Labor Board, whose recommendation to postpone action was adopted.

In the table given on this page showing the number of mining properties in operation, the number of men employed in each mine, and the approximate payroll of each property, it will be noted that there has been a slight decrease in numbers employed since the middle of last month. This decrease is largely in gravel properties which are running short of water as the summer approaches.

In some of the quartz mines, important developments have occured which necessiate suspension of development work or ore extraction in order to make much needed changes in shafts or underground working facilities.

One of the most significant discoveries of the month is that in the Central mine of the Lava Cap, where on the 1000 foot level, a drift 280 feet long, along the ledge has developed excellent ore, running $20 per ton and better in a comparatively wide vein. Superintendent Otto E. Schiffner is running the mill largely on this ore and proposes soon to sink and raise on it. The Banner property has been temporarily closed down, except for the necessary maintainance crew, and all energies of the Lava Cap company are being directed to developing the big ore showing in the Central.

It will be noted that the mining industry pays out in Nevada county a quarter of a million dollars in wages each month, and that nearly 2000 men are employed regularly. There are a number of small properties not recorded in the table below, but if every one engaged in mining could be tabulated and placed, it is altogether likely that the total payroll would closely approximate $300,000 per month.

Reports from the various mining properties are as follow:

QUAKER HILL MINE

At the time of the death of Mr. Thomas Botting, superintendent of the Quaker Hill mines, the owner of the property, Morton F. Stearn, was on the high seas enroute to Europe. The message reached him at the Rex Hotel in Genoa, Italy, as soon as he landed.

Mr. Stearn sent a message back electing Elmer Poore, who worked under Mr. Botting to the position of superintendent of the mine.

IS VIRTUE ITS OWN REWARD? NOT ALWAYS

The gratitude of a sorrowing mother, whose son had been saved from an ignominious death on the scaffold, was expressed Monday when Mrs. Rice of 523 Ivey Street, Grass Valley, called on Attorney Francis Finnegan, and presented him with a two-carat diamond ring, as an appreciation of his earnest and capable services in defending F. A. Broun, convicted of murder last Friday and sentenced to a life term in Folsom. The value of the ring is approximately $1,000.

Attorney Finnegan, appointed by the court to defend Broun, expected no remuneration whatever. It is usually a thankless job, and often one very perfunctoorily performed, to defend a criminal at the bar following an appointment by the court to that duty.

Nevertheless, Broun's defender gave his client every assistance possible. Even though the case was one of plain murder, there was one extenuating circumstance, i. e. Broun and his victim, Perry, had engaged in bitter quarrels and fights. Broun claimed he feared Perry was about to obtain his revolver in the deadly melee of March 9, when he killed Perry in the "jungle" near Grass Valley.

It was this consideration, presented for its full evidence value by Attorney Finnegan before the jury, that probably won Broun recoommendation of mercy with the conviction of first degree murder.

SENIOR FARCE PACKS THEATER

By HARLEY M. LEETE Jr.

The Senior Farce was a great success. The house was packed, the cast and the orchestra were generously applauded, and the Senior class was much gratified in the big reception given their play.

In the leading parts, Helen Arbogast as "Letty Lythe," Gove Celio as "Chester Binney," and Bob Tamblyn and Naomi Whitley as "Mr. and Mrs. Simmons," did exceptionally well.

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. L. C. Sweeney played a number of excellently performed selections before and after the play and between the second and third acts.

The Senior class realized a comfortable sum of money on the play and is thankful to all who attended or helped in any way with the play.

THREE ARRAIGNMENTS ARE SET FOR MONDAY

Felony informations were filed by Deputy District Attorney Robert Tharp yesterday against William V. Lozier, charged with grand theft; Elmer Johnson and Anton Norman, both charged with drunken driving.

Johnson, alleged to be drunk and driving last Sunday, crashed into a car at Auburn and Main streets in Grass Valley, and seriously injured three persons. At his preliminary yesterday morning before Judge Oscar Winburn, of Grass Valley, he was held to answer in the Superior Court, and his bail fixed at $1500 cash.

Norman crashed into a car in East Broad street Sunday and was arrested on a drunken driving charge, and held to answer.

All three will be arraigned in the Superior Court next Monday.

George Erway, who is working his mining property near Columbia Hill, spent a few hours in Nevada City Sunday visiting his daughters, Mrs. Ann Larson and Mrs. Lucille Neilson.

HEY! SKINNEY! YOO HOO! GOIN' TO PET SHOW?

Plans for the Pet Show on May 19 are nearly complete. Entries being made all the way from peacocks to monkeys. About 30 dogs have been entered and some good dog fights are in prospect. A fine collection of quilts and fancy work has also been promised.

The Parent Teacher Assoociation, sponsoring the pet show, has decided no special admission charge for adults but a silver offering is too be made afterwards. All children not making entries will be charged five cents. The parade starts promptly at two o'clock.

An excellent program by the third grade pupils of the Washington grammar school is to be given this afternoon. Mrs. Helen Berger is class leader and Mrs. Flindt, teacher. All parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

JUST ONE BROKEN AXEL AFTER ANOTHER

Mrs. Jack Widauf, driving back from Reno with Mrs. Robert Grant, after taking Mrs. Lacy Jones to be with her sister, ill in Reno, met with a series of accidents. Coming down the Bear Valley hill, they broke an axel, then walked some distance and phoned for help. Mrs. Widauf's son Tom hurried out after them and at Bear Valley, his axel broke—and they finally came home in the Hoge truck.

HUSSEY SHAFT IS SUNK 100 FEET

Sinking of the shaft at the Hussey mine of West Mines Corporation, has been completed to the second level and the sump at the bottom is now being completed. Total distance sunk is about 100 feet. Levels have been started in both directions on the vein at the bottom and as soon as these levels have been advanced a few rounds, the pumping equipment will be moved down to the new station. Production from the property is being maintained while development is in progress. The management expresses itself as well pleased with indications at the property.

At the Canada Hill mine, the workings are in order for the resumption of development operations as quickly as the plan of procedure can be decided upon. Bids have been received for drilling of a series of core drill holes to outline the position of the St. Louis vein and to prospect both the footwall and hanging wall of the Canada Hill vein. This work will be preparatory to an intensive drive to bring the mine into the producing class.

At its mill, West Mines Coorporation has been treating considerable quantities of custom ore and has been called upon for the making of numerous test runs. These runs are indicative of the growth in mining activity in the district and speak well for the future of the industry locally. Custom lots are being cleanedu p quickly as for the balance of the month at least the company will need the mill full time for traetment of its own ores.

WORK ON POOL BEGINS TODAY

The city counci,l last evening, met with Y. C. Soda, the contractor to whom the work of constructing the municipal swimming pool was let. The terms of the contract were studied and he agreed to begin work today on the pool's construction.

Dangerous Downieville Highway Is a Disgrace To State Road System

It is high time that business men, merchants, mining men, and all residents of Nevada City and Grass Valley raised their voices and shouted in unison to the State Highway Commihsion:

"We want the kinks taken out of the Nevada City-Downieville highway, NOW."

As it is, this primary state highway is:

(1) Dangerously unsafe. The percentage of accidents in number of vehicles that pass over it, is terrifically high.

(2) So full of curves that thousands of persons suffer the torments of seasickness in riding over it.

(3) Wasteful of the gas and time of every motorist who uses it. It hampers the business relations of the people of Downieville, Alleghany, Forest City, Camptonville, North San Juan, Columbia Hill, French Corral, Nevada City and Grass Valley. It makes communications among these cities difficult and costly.

Jack Wolff, of Grass Valley, has recently analyzed conditions under which motorists use this highway and his figures should certainly interest the State Highway Commission. Here is his letter addressed to William Boucher, district manager of the Sacramento Valley Council, State Chamber of Commerce:

"We have checked the Nevada City-Downieville state highway, route No. 25, and find that within its short distance of 46 miles it contains but 4 and 6-10 miles of straight road into which have been counted all straight stretches of 100 feet, more or less and which represents exactly 10 per cent of the total lengtl of this highway and leaves 90 per cent of the highway, consisting of turns numbering a total of 949.

"To be perfectly frank, no one can analyze the Nevada City-Downieville highway and come away from that analyzation with any other feeling but one of amazement that a road of that character has been permitted, for so many years, to remain a part of our primary State Highway System.

"We are tabulating the number of turns along the various section of this highway, together with the total length in miles of each section and the total amount of straight stretches in each:

Curves	Section	Total Length	Total Straight Portion
238	Nevada City North San Juan	15.4 Miles	2.7 miles
74	No. San Juan Middle Yuba Bridge	3.1 Miles	.2 miles
154	Middle Yuba, Log Cabin	3.1 Miles	.0 miles
43	Log Cabin, Camptonville	1.5 Miles	.1 miles
221	Camptonville North Yuba Bridge	5.5 Miles	.2 miles
112	North Yuba, Goodyear Bar	12.0 Miles	1.0 miles
107	Goodyear Bar, Downieville	4.0 Miles	.4 miles
949		46.4 Miles	4.6 miles
418	Middle Yuba, North Yuba Bridge	11.9 Miles	.3 miles

"We wish to call your attention particularly to that portion of the highway crossing the Camptonville Ridge from the Middle Fork of the Yuba river, at the Nevada county-Yuba county boundary, to the North Fork of the Yuba river bridge in Sierra county. Here is a total distance of approximately 11.9 miles which contains only a total of .3 of one mile straight highway. The balance of 11.6 miles, coonsists of a solid succession of 418 turns, many of which are inexcusably in succession. There are reverse turns by the dozen with not a single rest between them. Not only is the road tortuous, but in places it is so narrow and hung so high above the canyon along side, that it constitutes a death trap.

"When you consider that the Camptonville Union school district is forced to carry its school children to and from school over this sort of a highway, where only the grace of God has up to this time prevented an accident with the complete wiping out of every child life on board the school bus, it does noot make a pleasant picture to look at. And if for no other reason the California State Highway Commission were disposed to correct this situation, the matter of lives of these school children alone should bring about action to straighten and widen, or totally re-align this particular section during the next biennium.

"Much good work has already been done by the State Highway Commission in bringing up to present state highway standards several miles of the section along the North Fork of the Yuba river. However, the California State Chamber of Commerce doubtless realizes the time is here when the State of California must at this time set up a major project to cut out this dangerous and shameful section of our state highway system lying between the Middle Fork and the North Fork of the Yuba river.

"It is of course, essential that much work be done on that portion of this highway lying between Nevada City and the Middle Fork of the Yuba, also between the North Fork and the west end of the recent-

Civic Club Votes $50 To Aid Scout Lodge

Mrs. C. E. Parsons, the new president, presided over a busy meeting of the Woman's Civic club on Monday evening. After a most interesting discussion, in which members expressed their desire to help the Boy Scout movement, the club voted to donate $50 to the organization, with the hope that other organizations might also contribute to this movement, which does so much for boys. A number of the ladies enthusiastically expressed their approval, and their desire to help, in the planned Scout hall, a much needed meeting place for the scouts.

Mrs. Parsons announced that Judge Ralph Thompson, of Sacramento, will be guest and speaker at the next meeting of the club. Each member may bring one guest to this meeting.

The entertainment committee for the coming year was appointed, and will consist of Mrs. Harley M. Leete, chairman, Mrs. R. R. Goyne, Mrs. Paul Kemper, Mrs. G. A. Legg and Mrs. Arthur A. Hoge, Jr.

Mrs. A. W. Hoge was selected to be delegate to the Tri-County Convention, to be held in Loomis on May 24.

BILL TO SUSPEND MINE ASSESSMENTS PASSES

Word has just reached the Nugget that a Senate bill to permit the suspensionofthe requirement for $100 worth of labor or improvements a year on mining claims during the year ending July 1, 1934, was passed May 7, by the House and sent to the Senate for amendment by the House and sent to the Senate for amendment.

The bill will make certain exemptions applying only to small, hard pressed miners. It shall not exempt persons who paid an income tax of 1933.

Applications for exemption must file notice of such desire on their part, and limits have been set on the number of claims a person exempted may hold. The act applies also to Alaska.

The Nugget will publish the "certain exemptions," as soon as the information is received.

LITTLE THEATER GUILD FORMS IN GRASS VALLEY

Young people of dramatic talent have organized a Little Theater Guild in Grass Valley and propose to present a play once a month at the Legion Theater.

They are receiving the enthusiastic support of theater goers in both Nevada City and Grass Valley who love a good play. They have decided to devote a part of their earnings to charity.

Their first play will be "The Laughing Guest," to be presented at the Legion Theater Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 22 and 23.

This group of talented amateurs will welcome into its organization all young people who can demonstrate a modicum of darmatic skill.

QUARTZ PROPERTIES AT WASHINGTON TO RESUME

From good authority it is learned that E. C. Klinker, who represents a large mining concern, has taken over the German, Ocean Star, Washington and Columbia mines in the Washington district. These are all quartz properties and have good past production records.

WIDE CIRCLE OF FRIENDS GIVE TO ST. MARY'S FUND

Four counties have joined in the movement to lift the indebtedness of the Sisters of Mercy Academy at Grass Valley. In 18 cities and towns adjacent to Grass Valley tickets are being soldto help raise funds to pay bills that have been accumulating for more than two years.

CABIN BURGLARS STEALS VIOLIN MADE IN 1732

CAMPTONVILLE, May 10.—While he was in town on business Tuesday, the cabin of Charles Warner, on Oregon Creek, five miles south of town, was robbed. The cabin was broken into with a small crow bar, prying off a hinge hasp, and articles of considerable value were taken, including an old violin, made in 1732, valued at $400, a box of old coins, 3 guns, mining tools, and clothing. Constable A. H. Behrens made an investigation and is working with the sheriff'soffice at Marysville in an endeavor to apprehend the burglar.

Mrs. Walter Mobley and daughter, Elaine, of Auburn, spent Saturday and Sunday in Sacramento.

PUBLIC LIBRARY ATTRACTS 1090 APRIL VISITORS

Patronage of the Nevada City Public Library is growing. Here is the report of Mrs. Williamson, librarian, for April:

To the Hon. Board of Trustees of Nevada City Free Library,
Gentlemen:

I respectfully submit the following report of conditions in the Nevada City Free Library for the month of April, 1934.

CLAIMS ON OREGON CREEK ARE LEASED

CAMPTONVILLE, May 10.—Emil Verch and A. H. Behrem have leased their mining claim on Oregon Creek to Messrs. Curtis, Nash, and Hedlund of Los Angeles, and the new operators will start work at once developing the property, continuing the tunnel and opening up the channel. The claim is located at the base of the old Silva Ranch on Oregon Creek a mile south of town.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Causes—The Excessive use of meat is only one of the leading causes, and to this may be added habitual overeating, together with the use of seasonings and condiments. An exciting cause is exposure to cold.
Treatment— The only possible way to effect a cure is to take Chinese Herbs to purify the blood. The patient should adhere to a strict diet; then allow the various excretory organs to do their legitimate work, and prevent a rapid break-down of the kidneys. Start taking Chinese Herbs to remove the cause of the trouble and to build up the kidneys. Take daily as much water hot or cold, as can be taken with comfort, or lemonade (unsweetened), if preferred. This will help to wash out the kidneys and aid in removing broken down tissues. The water should be soft and pure. Next endeavor to stimulate the skin to greater activity; this will help the kidneys. If the patient is strong enough, a good sweat bath daily is benefit. The character of the diet is of the greatest importance. Let the diet consist largely of fresh fruits, mostly of the subacid varieties. Fresh ripe oranges are fine, these to be taken on an empty stomach. Also sun-dried fruits, such as apricots, peaches, prunes, dates, figs, etc. Use no sugar or starches with the fruits. Non-starchy vegetables with a little whole grain bread, well-baked may be eaten once a day, fruit twice daily. Fresh butter milk is a good drink and cottage cheese may be eaten with the fruit in place of bread.
Office hours: Wednesday 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m., Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 9 a. m., to 8 p. m., Sunday 9 a. m., to noon. No office hours Monday and Tuesday.

Sailor, Beware!

Sailor beware of every man
Who tries to rock the boat;
He's demonstrating inborn sin
And angling for your vote;
Last year he did not seem so bold—
He stood in dire alarm
And prayed for some one to appear
And save the land from harm.

He hailed the New Deal with delight
And when the eagle screamed,
He cried, "that is the very bird
Of which my soul has dreamed!"
He promised to cooperate,
To do his manly part;
An able seaman he would be?
Of course, with all his heart!

But now, that skies have brighter grown
And we are sighting land,
He gets his little hammer out
And seeks to gain command.
"This ship," he growls, "is off her course,
I hear the breakers roar;
Come on, let's scuttle her, my lads,
And bravely wade ashore!"

It's un-American, he thinks
To rule child labor out,
It's un-American to give
A man a job, no doubt;
It's un-American to save
The Ship of State from sinking—
And so he keeps on thinking thinks
And thinks that he is thinking.

So sailor man, I say "Beware
Of him who rocks the boat;
His motives are ulterior—
He's angling for your vote!"

SOCIAL EVENTS

Mrs. Schiffner Honors Visitors at Luncheon

Mrs. Otto E. Schiffner was hostess on Monday at a informal luncheon to a small group of friends who were invited to meet Mrs. C. R. Tarbell, of Sacramento and Mrs. Tarbell's mother and sister who have been visiting her from Denver, Colorado. Covers were laid for ten at the charmingly appointed table, which was centered with a large bowl of sweet peas.

Miss Ella Krasevac to Wed Allen Newell

Miss Ella Krasevac and Allen Newell, secured a marriage license in Auburn on Monday, May 14. It is understood that the young couple are to be married next Sunday.

The bride has held a responsible position with the Alpha Hardware store for some time, and is highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends.

The groom is a resident of Grass Valley, where he is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Addington Entertain at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Addington entertained a number of friends at dinner last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore prepared the delicious meal.

Those enjoying the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Robins, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Marsh, Mesdames Richard Phelan, Nellie Phelan, Earl Rickard, Fred Tredennick, Ed Martine, and Mr. and Mrs. Addington.

Davis Family Enjoys Mother's Day Dinner

Mrs. Wesley Davis assisted by her sister, Miss Eleanor DeWitt and Miss May Sparr, entertained at a Mother's Day and birthday dinner at the Davis home in Willow Valley last Sunday. It was in honor of Mrs. Davis husband's birthday and her mother, Mrs. Theodore DeWitt, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Will Davis.

The delicious dinner was spread under the trees picnic style, with two large cakes as the main feature.

Those enjoying the happy occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis, Mrs. Theodore DeWitt, Misses Birdie and May Sparr, Eleanor DeWitt, Bert Tucker, Will Cadwalader, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Davis and son.

Mrs. Davis and Mrs. DeWitt each received nice boxes of candy and Wesley Davis was the recipient of many choice gifts.

Junior Class to Hold Annual Picnic

The Junior class, of the high school, held a meeting Tuesday after school, to discuss plans for a class picnic. Lake Vera, Lake Olympia, and Washington were discussed, but nothing definite was decided. Another meeting will be held to finally determine the question.

President Betty Foote presided, and Secretary Mae Arbogast read the minutes.

Social Program For Bible Class

There is to be a social meeting of the Bible Class at the Methodist church this evening. An interesting program has been prepared. Next Wednesday Sunshine Circle will entertain Priscilla Circle with a good program and serve refreshments. Mrs. George Gibson is president of the Sunshine Circle and the Adult Bible Class.

Friends Felicitate Mrs. Evans on Birthday

Last Monday, Mrs. Florence Evans celebrated her 80th birthday, at her home on lower Boulder street. Many friends called during the afternoon and she was the recipient of a number of lovely gifts, cards, and beautiful bouquets.

Mrs. Evans has spent practically her entire life in Nevada City and has a mind rich in sweet memories. She enjoys a wide circle of friends and is ever interested in all that goes on about her.

She is the sister of Mrs. Henry Schroeder, of Nevada City, and Mrs. Fred Miller, of Grass Valley.

Four Generations Gathered for Mother's Day

CAMPTONVILLE, May 14.—A Mother's Day dinner was given Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Acton M. WARREN ODELL IS CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR

In this issue of the Nevada City Nugget, there appears the announcement of Warren Odell, who enters the race for the office of Supervisor of the Fourth District, of Nevada county.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Odell stated yesterday he is thoroughly familiar with the needs of the district and the county in general through a life long residence here. He has taken an active interest in all matters tending to the betterment of Nevada county and especially his district and promises the voters if he is elected to the office to give his best attention to the duties of the office. He also states he will give an economical administration in all affairs connected with the county.

RED MEN'S CAMP STEW

Wyoming Tribe, of the Red Men, are entertaining the Red Men's Association of Central California with one of their famous camp stews, in Red Men's Grove, in Nevada City, next Saturday evening, May 26. This is for members of the order and many prominent visitors are expected.

AUSTIN CURNEEN IS SCHOOL SUPT. CANDIDATE

Prepared by a three-fold program of teaching experience, business acumen and administrative capacity, Austin Richard (Dick) Curneen, of Grass Valley, announces in this issue of the Nevada City Nugget, his candidacy for the office of County Superintendent of Schools. The county primary election is scheduled for August 28.

A. R. Curneen is no stranger to Grass Valley or Nevada City citizens nor to the entire county. A native Californian, who has spent his life in his native state, the candidate has been a resident of Nevada county for 9 years. This residence followed two years teaching experience in Oregon and three years in the auditing department of a large Redwood district lumber company.

In Nevada county he was principal of the Gold Flat school for two years and instructor at the Columbus school, in Grass Valley, since 1927.

He has attended summer school sessions of teacher's colleges each year, acquiring latest and approved educational standards and methods and last summer, at San Jose State Teacher's College completed requirements for an administrative credential making him eligible for supervisorial and administrative positions.

He will conduct an active campaign for the office and asks consideration of his name by all voters in the county.

MONTANA CAFE GRAND OPENING IS SATURDAY

Larry Landry has purchased the building of the Montana Cafe and has taken over the business. The former owner of this property was Charles Tegler. The grand opening will be held tomorrow.

In the past week or two, a transformation has taken place which makes the Montana Cafe one of the most modern restaurants in Nevada City. All electrical features were installed by the United Electric Company. Kitchen equipment was placed by G. O.' Neill's plumbing shop, cabinet work done by J. L. Smith, tinting and decorating by Frank Young, and plumbing by Fred Breese.

Mr. Landry made a point of having all the work of modernizing this spacious and pleasant eating place done by local craftsmen.

Among the features of this new restaurant, for to all practical purposes it is brand new, are a huge oil burning range, a large refrigerator, complete sanitary equipment in kitchen and bar, a rest room for ladies as well as men, a beautifully appointed and decorated dining room, and with well cooked and seasoned meals a choice of the best wines and beers that money can buy. In the wine closets he has even provided for those special occasions Mumm's Extra Dry and California's choice sparkling Burgundy.

The Montana Cafe is something for epicures and good plain citizens to remember when they are thinking of where to eat regularly, where to "throw a party," or where to get an occasional meal.

JOHN J. KELLY, OF MOONSHINE, DEAD

CAMPTONVILLE, May 14.—The community was shocked Saturday upon learning of the death of one of its most respected citizens, John J. Kelly. Although it was known that he had been ill, it was not considered serious and his passing came as a sudden blow to his many friends.

John J. Kelly was born in the Moonshine section 69 years ago, and spent his entire life in this section. Some years ago he was engaged in the cattle business, and was well known throughout the county, owning several acres of land in the valley section, where he grazed his stock during the winter months, and in the summer bringing them onto the mountain range.

Over 15 years ago he gave up the cattle business, and took to mining, a life long hobby. He located a claim known as Nigger Slide, on the North Yuba river above Slate Range, and laborously for over 15 years, all alone, he has been tunneling the mountain side, searching for the channel, and with all this work, all these years, without taking out a penny's worth of gold.

Deceased was typical of the rugged pioneers, and was a familar figure on the trails and roads of northern Yuba county. He was of jovial disposition, temperate, and well liked by all who knew him and his passing has created a vacancy which will long be evidenced. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Margaret C Kelly.

Funeral services were held from the Catholic church at Nevada City. Tuesday morning, interment being made in the cemetery at North San Juan.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND BOOSTS SENIOR FARCE

Late working business men in Nevada City were entertained at about 6:30 Wednesday evening by a truck load of high school band musicians. The serenaders were directed by Mr. L. E. Sweeney, and were mounted on a truck, the use of which was kindly donated by the Nevada County Lumber Company.

The Senior Farce, held last night, needed advertising and the band boys were doing it.

Those who played were: Cecil Schiffner, Franklin Tuttle, Ruth Curnow, Bob Schiffner, Dick Bennett, Ralph Watters, Audrey Davis, Mary Warneke, Paul Phariss, Bob Small.

The music was much enjoyoed and was probably one of the reasons that the Farce was so well attended. There was a full house last night, practically every seat having been sold, and the play was highly enjoyed.

The Nevada City Nugget is Now $2.50 per year

Local Happenings

Mrs. Kittie Kimball and Mrs. Richard Phelan motored to Sacramento yesterday for the day.

R. L. P. Bigelow, Dr. C. W. Chapman, and Ed Baker leave tomorrow for Ukiah where they go as delegates to a convention of Native Sons.

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart

Washington.—The Republicans are giving some indications that they intend to fight for election of their partisans in the next congress on the ground that the emergency is over and that President Roosevelt and his administration are continuing on a spending spree just to afford deserving Democrats with pie from the government counter. The tipoff as to the direction from which the attack will come arose the other day without attracting a great deal of attention. It came from Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader in the house, who opposed one of the newer brain-trust creations because he declared, unequivocally, "the emergency is over."

Queer Quirk in Politics

After Mr. Snell had made the statement, I inquired of a number of persons, astute in politics, what they thought of this anomaly. Here is a leader of the opposition party declaring that the emergency is over, and if that condition exists, the leader of the opposition, by inference at least, has admitted that credit for the job must be given the Roosevelt administration. I find as well that the Democrats can hardly admit the correctness of the statement without admitting at the same time that there should be an end immediately to the countless emergency agencies that the Roosevelt administration has set up. It seems to me, therefore, that we are witnessing one of the most ridiculous situations that has ever occurred in politics where peculiar things are the rule. Succinctly, it amounts to this: each side actually is contending that the other is right.

Of course, it should be said, much water will flow under the bridge before the votes are counted in November; indeed, many changes will have come before the congressional campaigns in the various states get stirred up to a white heat, but unless the course of battle now indicated is altered, I predict the campaigners will have to do some fancy high rope walking. It surely appears that getting one's own legs tangled up in those arguments is about the easiest thing in sight.

Curious possibilities are offered by the situation. For example, are the Democrats going to go out on the hustings and say to their mass meetings in effect that "we have not succeeded; we must keep the AAA and the NRA" and others? And, at the same time, are we going to hear from Republican spellbinders that "the Democrats have licked the depression and they must now put an end to their orgy of spending and running up bills which the taxpayers must meet"?

Neither side, of course, will say it in those words. But, if the argument goes ahead as it has started, that will have to be the substance of their tale to the voters. There will have to be some very careful, as well as very quick, thinking before the campaign's end. One politicial observer here suggested that this may turn out to be a most confusing campaign because of the anomaly that is now presented by Mr. Snell's declaration.

There is considerable discussion here as to how far-reaching the effect may be if the Republicans stress, with sufficient vigor, the contention that the Democrats are trying to hold on to the extra jobs and that they are continuing to spend taxpayers' money for repayment of political debts. There is always something sinister about that kind of thing. Whether the charge is right or wrong, many voters get suspicious when campaigners persist in talking about raids on the federal treasury. They always think of it in terms of theft of money from the local bank or stores and not in the terms of political maneuvering, although I confess I can see little difference. It always has happened that the political party in power has controlled the flow of public moneys into the spots where the funds will do the most good, politically, and when either side kicks about that, it seems to me it is exactly like one mule calling another "longear."

Just Speculation

I won't even suggest that I can guess what the ultimate effect of these strange arguments is going to be. Anyone who tries to predict the result at this time is just being silly. The best judgment I can get is that the results in the various congressional districts are going to vary. The difference likely will be dependent entirely upon how many mistakes—plain bonehead statements—the various candidates make in their attempts to follow arguments and analyses laid down for them by the national political committees. My belief is that there will be plenty of them and there ought to be, therefore, a considerable amount of surprise when the votes are counted.

It is quite apparent to the Democratic leaders, and they say so, that a number of house seats, now held by Democrats, will be turned over to the Republicans next fall. There are seats occupied by Democrats who have no reason on earth to be in the house except by virtue of the tremendous landslide that placed Mr. Roosevelt in the White House. Districts normally Democratic are more than likely going to continue to elect Democrats, but the "political accidents" that elected many others of the vast majority in the house are going to send many home because they come from overwhelmingly Republican communities. The Republican leaders are asserting they will pick up eighty or ninety seats from the Democrats next November. There can be no doubt that they will gain some, but eighty or ninety is a high figure in anybody's language.

'First Termer' Wins Honor

It seems to me that Representative Mark Wilcox of Florida has won a rather signal honor in his first term as a member of the house of representatives by obtaining passage of the legislation that has come to be known as the municipal bankruptcy bill. It is something like twenty years since a "freshman" member of the house of representatives has sponsored a piece of legislation of national scope that was passed and become a law. Plenty of new members have introduced bills, nationwide in their effect, but as far as my research has disclosed, none has been successful in the last twenty years.

Mr. Wilcox won membership in the house by defeating Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the famed William Jennings Bryan, for the Democratic nomination in his district where the nomination is tantamount to an election. So he was given a baptism of fire before he ever reached the house itself. Whether it was the political prestige won by licking an outstanding Democratic woman, or for other reasons, the fact remains that Mr. Wilcox finally forced through a piece of legislation that constitutes something entirely new in our national structure of laws.

The measure, as I said, is national in scope and it probably will affect the financial status of some 2,500 communities which the bill calls taxing districts. This list of taxing districts includes municipalities, counties, boroughs, villages, parishes, townships, and incorporated taxing districts such as schools, drainage, irrigation, levee, sewer, paving, sanitary, port, or any other districts in which improvements have been made in bonds and sold to pay for them. In order to take advantage of the provisions of the law, the taxing district must declare itself to be insolvent and unable to pay the interest or principal of the debt. The officials of the taxing district may petition a federal court for the right to arrange its debt on a new basis, but the court must be shown that at least three-fourths in number and amount of holders of the bonds are willing to agree to the terms of a compromise. If they do agree, then the court may issue a decree that will compel the remaining bondholders to accept the settlement.

What happens, of course, is that the taxing district will be able to replace the defaulted bonds with a fresh series, probably at a lower interest rate. The taxing district gets out of the predicament of what amounts to bankruptcy, and the bondholders get new securities which are marketable and have something like their face value because the interest will be paid. This privilege is extended for only two years, but it is the general understanding that the communities concerned will be able to accomplish settlements with their creditors much sooner than that, and it is obviously hoped also that improved financial conditions throughout the nation will make the job of rearranging the debts easier than it was a few years ago.

The bill did not get through congress without a fight. It had plenty of opposition from members who contended it was a step toward repudiation of debts, a thing always to be abhorred. There was argument also that by granting permission for the municipalities and taxing districts to force such compromise as will result, the congress was making such securities less attractive to investors.

Kidding the NRA

One of the obvious results of having the spotlight turned onto an individual or a fact or an issue is plenty of comment. People talk about it. Sometimes, however, the talk develops jibes and jests and ofttimes they are not pleasant for the ardent advocates of a proposition to swallow. For instance, until recently discussion of NRA had been confined to serious argument, very often of a heated character. Lately, however, jokes and puns about NRA have been emerging with greater frequency and there are now a considerable number of them. The latest, and one of the best that I have heard, runs as follows:

N. R. A. me down to sleep,
I pray Thee, Lord, my codes to keep;
If I should bust before I wake,
A. F. of L. my plant will take.

I heard already that the American Federation of Labor considers the reference to it in the doggerel to be closely akin to unfair practice, or whatever it is organized labor says about those who are not its supporters. General Johnson's reactions are not yet a matter of record, although I know he has seen the thing.

Print With Plain Is Style Formula

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THAT new style formula which calls for gay print combined with a monotone weave is taking the world of fashion by storm. The idea has so captivated designers they are working their imagination overtime in order to play up dramatically to this challenge to their genius. The three fetching costumes in the illustration tell an eloquent story in regard to this new and thrilling print-and-plain movement.

Let us consider first the perfectly charming model in the center. It requires genuine artistry to produce anything like this. The manner in which the daisy motif of the print is worked to relieve a straight waistline and to unify blouse and skirt is nothing less than a stroke of genius. The lining of the jacket which, by the way, reflects the very fashionable coolie-coat influence is also of the daisy print. White gloves, a navy hat and pocketbook and navy shoes carry a last word style message.

Did you think it a redingote ensemble—the costume to the left in the picture? It does look the part, we will admit, but in reality it is a voguish one-piece dress of navy sheer with a swish of startling print dashing its way down the entire front of the frock. The collar may be worn open to show revers. Of course you have made mental note of the jaunty little white Breton sailor which this fashionable young woman is wearing. The wee feather brings just the right color note to this nobby headpiece.

Surprise number one is that the costume to the left is not a redingote ensemble and now for surprise number two which is to the effect that the costume to the right in the group is just that—a redingote model. This redingote of unusual styling buttons at one shoulder and down the side under the arm. While it looks as if it might be a one-piece dress it is really an entirely separate item and can be worn as a coat with any frock. A black sheer fabric fashions it and it tops a print crepe gown in yellow and black. Her black Milan straw Breton sailor is definitely chic.

So high does enthusiasm run for this alliance of print and a solid color you will find all sorts of neckwear fancies and accessories to wear with your one-color dresses made of gay Mexican and Roman-stripe or plaid prints. The new bib collars with cuffs to match are animated with cunning pleatings and bright buttons. Plastrons of print silk which cover the entire front of the bodice and are tied about the waist are quite the rage. Try one of these with that navy or black frock which calls for a freshening spring touch. You will be elated to see what one of these neckwear sets of startling print can do to a hitherto somber frock.

Here's another suggestion, why not a boutonniere with gloves to match of multi-colored or checked print to wear with your spring tailored suit? Perhaps an audacious plaid or stripe scarf tied in a huge bow to wear with your navy or brown swagger suit is more to your liking. By the way, had you heard about the increasing popularity of brown prints? This movement is worth watching. Many of these smart brown prints are patterned with lovely fresh spring yellows and vivid orange with a dash of pure white.

STRIPE VELVET

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Summer velvets are proving a great attraction to the style-conscious woman who is looking for the newest and the smartest materials. It can readily be seen from this picture that summer velvet in two-color stripe makes an exceedingly smart swagger sports coat. You can visualize this in navy and white or brown and beige or other combinations, for this most desirable velvet comes in various color alliances. The hat is trimmed, in a most effective manner, with a two-color velvet ribbon.

NUN INFLUENCE IN PLAYTIME STYLES

Playtime costumes for modish moderns recalling the habits of cloistered nuns have stepped upon the fashion stage as a novel note in spring fashions.

Though the black dinner costumes were lightened by gayer touches than a nun ever donned, and gold necklaces and earrings brightened the ensemble, the long-sleeved dinner frocks with demure high necks, the halo hats worn by the mannequins, the serenity of their faces and walk, lent a touch of the habit worn by the French "religieuse."

Madame Lanvin showed a long-sleeved, high-necked dinner gown of scarlet red crepe with an instep length black faille coat and a black halo hat. The mannequin, whose hair was swept serenely back from her face, wore two great gold ball earrings and a belt of golden nail heads. Another striking costume combined a long-sleeved frock of black lace, a long black faille coat and hat.

Mannish Lines Disappear in Latest Spring Suits

Femininity is the essence of that new spring suit.

Though a trimly tailored effect of simplicity is still the rule, the hard mannish line in vogue for several seasons has been tossed on fashion's scrap heap. Wools are often a little softer, silhouettes look less as though they had been sketched by hard black crayon on white paper, accessories such as golden snail or silver seashell fastenings are decidedly feminine.

Metal-Threaded Organdy

Organdy gowns, woven with metal threads or splashed with shimmering sequins, are designed with full sweeping hems which billow about the wearer's feet.

Man's First Flight Under His Own Power

FOR the first time in history a man has succeeded in flying under his own power. Erich Kocher of Berlin is here seen performing the feat, followed by excited friends. He blew into the box-like arrangement, causing to revolve the two rotors which also served as wings. On his feet was a ski landing gear, and attached to his hips was a "tail skid."

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

FARMER BROWN'S FRIENDS

AS PETER RABBIT sat admiring Rosebreast the Grosbeak, another bird appeared in the tree with Rosebreast.

"Who's that?" cried Peter.

"Mrs. Grosbeak, of course. Who else would it be?" sputtered Jenny, rather crossly.

"Never, never would I have guessed it," replied Peter. "She doesn't look the least bit like him except that she is the same size and shape."

This was quite true. There was no beautiful rose color about Mrs. Grosbeak. She wore brown and gray principally, with little touches of buff here and there, and with dark streaks on her breast. Over each eye was a whitish line. It didn't seem possible that she could be the mate of handsome Rosebreast. To Peter she looked more like an overgrown member of the Sparrow family. While Rosebreast sang, Mrs. Grosbeak was very busy picking buds and blossoms from the trees. This struck Peter as queer.

"What is she doing that for?" he inquired.

"For the same reason that you bite off sweet clover blossoms and leaves," replied Jenny Wren tartly.

"Do you mean to say that they live on buds and blossoms?" cried Peter. "I never heard of such a thing. I shouldn't think Farmer Brown would like that."

"Tut, tut, tut, tut! You can ask more silly questions than anybody of my acquaintance," retorted Jenny Wren. "Of course, they don't live on buds and blossoms. If they depended on those they would soon starve to death. Use your head, Peter, use your head. You know well enough that buds and blossoms last only a very short time. The Grosbeaks eat a few just for the sake of variety, but they live mostly on bugs and insects. You ask Farmer Brown's Boy who helps him most in his potato patch, and he'll tell you it's the Grosbeaks. They certainly do love potato bugs. They eat some fruit, but on the whole, they are about as useful folk around the garden as anyone I know. Now run along, Peter Rabbit, and don't bother me any more."

Peter didn't run along right away. He sat around watching Rosebreast and Mrs. Grosbeak until he happened to look up to see Farmer Brown's Boy just starting down through the Old Orchard. Then Peter decided it was time for him to leave.

THE CHILDREN'S LUNCH BOX

WHERE the child must carry a lunch at school, every effort should be made to make the food appetizing. Fresh fruit when it is possible should always be included. Jams, jellies, dried fruits such as figs, prunes and raisins or dates will help out when apples, oranges and fresh fruits are not available.

Fruit Paste.

Thoroughly mix chopped dates, raisins, dry figs and finely ground nuts with orange juice and a little cream. Spread generously on thin, buttered bread.

Quick Orange Jam.

Take two cupfuls of orange pulp and juice, one lemon, pulp and juice, and one and one-half cupfuls of sugar. Boil ten minutes. Put into jelly glasses and seal. Serve in sandwiches or with toast. A small glass of this jam makes a dainty addition to the lunch basket.

For a wholesome sandwich, spread one slice of the buttered bread with orange marmalade and the other with cottage cheese. Put together and wrap in waxed paper.

Carrot, Celery and Nut Sandwich.

Mix ground raw carrots, celery and nuts with lemon juice and boiled dressing. Put the mixture into cases made by scooping out a roll cut in half. Fit the halves together.

Egg Sandwich.

Chop hard cooked eggs, moisten with lemon juice, season with salt and pepper, spread over a lettuce leaf, place on a buttered slice of bread. Cover with a plain buttered slice.

THE GREAT INHERITANCE

By ANNE CAMPBELL

THOU hast promised me an inheritance
More treasured than silver and gold,
More beautiful than the precious jewels
My dazzled eyes behold.
Thou hast promised me, Thou hast promised me
A luxury untold.

In my Father's house, Thou hast promised me,
There are mansions for my soul,
Where the curtains of worldly doubt and fear
Thy healing, scarred hands roll.
Thou hast promised me, Thou hast promised me
A bright and starry goal!

Thou hast promised me an inheritance
When done with earthly strife,
A boon to make a journey fair
That with threatening clouds is rife.
Thou hast promised me, Thou hast promised me
The gift of eternal life!

HEALTH CLINIC MONDAY FOR ALL BABIES IN SHOW

With the finish of the Baby Program imminent, the 150 little tots registered in the Pythian Sisters Prize Baby Show are in a closely contested race for the titles of Baby King and Baby Queen, which will be awarded the winners in three age divisions.

Friendship votes, cast by admirers of the little contestants, will be added to the points given at the baby beauty show and the baby health examinations to decide the winner in the Junior Royalty Divisions.

The health clinic will be the first event on the Pythian Sisters program and will be staged on Monday morning and afternoon, May 21, at the Pythian hall on Mill street, Grass Valley. Physicians from Nevada City and Grass Valley will conduct the examinations and blue ribbon health diplomas, health certificates, and special awards will be presented to the babies who score highly at the baby clinic.

The Baby Beauty Show will be staged on Wednesday, May 23, at the Legion theatre, in Grass Valley, in the afternoon. Judges from Marysville and Sacramento, will choose the most beautiful of the girl babies and the most handsome of the boy babies. These lucky little tots will be presented with silver loving cups. The other high scoring babies at the beauty show will be presented with beauty medal certificates.

The finale of the baby show will be the staging of a miniature replica of the Court of St. James, where a baby King and baby Queen chosen from each of three age divisions, will be crowned and presented with silver loving cups. Royal robes, crowns, and thrones will aid in producing an impressive ceremony of coronation.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES TO GIVE EXHIBITION

Exhibition Week for all classes of the high school will be from May 21 to 25. The exhibition will be held down town at the former location of the Shamrock Cafe, northeast corner of Pine and Broad. There will be certain hours when students will be present to explain different exhibits.

Exhibits will be posters, scrapbooks, models etc., to show what each class has done during the year.

During one afternoon, of the week, a tea will be given by the Girl's League for the mothers.

TRUCK WRECKED, DRIVER KILLED, THIEF REVEALED

The identity of a thief involved in a long list of robberies large and small, was established Wednesday, following the death of Dan Savage, in the Nevada county hospital, seven hours after he ran off the grade at Rice's Crossing in his light truck Tuesday. The truck rolled into the middle Yuba canyon. A woman and a man riding with him jumped to safety, but the truck carried Savage and Mrs. "Mickie" Jenkins down the declivity. Mrs. Jenkins among other injuries will probably lose the sight of one eye.

Sheriff George Carter, investigating the accident found several stolen articles in the truck, which led to an examination of Savage's cabin at the confluence of the Middle and South Yuba. There, nearly $500 worth of thieves' loot was discovered.

Listed among the plunder was the old violin, valued at $1500, belonging to Charles Warner, whose cabin near Camptonville was robbed May 8. Other loot identified and recovered consisted of a suit case filled with clothing, two rifles, a shot gun, ammunition, miner's tools and supplies.

Savage was known also as Fred Batche and John Destin.

BODY OF MISSING MAN FOUND AT FOOT OF CLIFF

A. J. Gangloff, prospector on the South Yuba river, near Washington, found the body of Eugene Palmer Wednesday morning. He had evidently fallen a distance of 75 feet down a precipice near an old flume. Death was almost instantaneous. Holmes Funeral Home sent an ambulance to Washington and with great difficulty, the body, which had lain in that spot for ten days, was brought out.

Mr. Palmer, an investment banker of San Francisco, was suffering from ill health due to financial worries. He had gone to Washington two months ago to engage in gravel mining with his brother, Engineer Leroy Palmer.

Posses had searched in vain for him when he first disappeared. A feeling of sorrow filled the little town of Washington when the news of his death was given out. He had resided in the Washington hotel for the two months he was there.

CAMP FIIRE GIRLS OF NEVADA CITY ORGANIZE

Miss Zoe Tredennick, recently appointed as leader of the Camp Fire Girls' group, which is being organized in Nevada City, held a meeting Tuesday evening. There were ten girls present and all were enthusiastic.

There is to be another meeting next Wednesday and this is the last meeting before the charter closes. All interested should attend so as to become charter members.

A minor operation was performed by Dr. B. W. Hummelt upon Mrs. Frank Ronda, on Wednesday.

MINE DEVELOPMENT

district, east of Nevada City, have taken out some good sized nuggets and coarse gold in operations recently. At present the property is being blocked out for a steady winter run.

EMPRESS MINE

A 200 ton per day, roll and ball crushing unit, mill, instead of the stamps, was purchased in Denver, Colorado, several days ago by Manager Ed C. Jacobs, of the Empress mine in the Newtown district. The new mill will be erected on a knoll, just east of the present plant. Many of the lighter units and accessories of the new plant are to be made at the George foundry, in Grass Valley.

ALTA HILL MINE

Operations at the Alta Hill shaft, part of the Cooley Butler interests, have practically opened the property to the first or 275 foot level. The mine has been unwatered, cleaned, and retimbering was done in the shaft in places.

IDAHO-MARYLAND CONS. MINES

In the annual report of the Idaho Maryland Mines Company, it states that in 1933, the company produced 68,233 tons of ore having a gross value of $13.38 per ton, figured on the basis of $20.67, the old price of gold. Average value of tailings from the Brunswick and Idaho Maryland mills was $.701, per ton. Average value of tailings from the Brunswick mill was $.564. Figures show that the combined production of gold and silver passed the $1,000,000 mark for the first time in 1933. During the past year 6,483 feet of drifts and crosscuts and 1,007 feet of raises and winzes were run. Expenses incurred amounted to $3.254 per ton of ore milled. The new tailings plant handles 300 tons per day of the immense tailings deposit on the property.

PHOENIX MINE

At the Phoenix mine in the Allison ranch section, south of Grass Valley, a new 75 foot head frame and heavier hoisting machinery are being set up. Since the acquisition of the Hurley property adjoining the Riley ranch claim the new machinery has been needed. The Phoenix shaft is about 400 feet deep. A cross cut from the 300 foot level has been raised to the surface forming a second exit and entrance to the shaft. Thomas Davies is the superintendent.

HOGE DEVELOPMENT

Crews are continuing stoping and drifting to the east in the Hoge Development Company mine, which lies east of Nevada City. Fifteen men are now employed at the property. A. W. Hoge is superintendent.

MAZZANTI AND JACK RABBIT

H. A. Conley, mining engineer, of Los Angeles, took an option and working lease on the Mazzanti and Jack Rabbit mines in the Banner Mountain section, east of Grass Valley. Associated with him are G. B. Louderback and Stanley Hodgins. There are several hundred acres in the property.

KEYSTONE DIVIDE

A three compartment shaft at the Keystone Divide mine, in the Newtown district, is below the 100 foot level. The company is driving the shaft vertically on the ledge, which drifts away from the shaft after passing the 100 level. The vein is to be picked up in drifts and crosscuts. Values continue with depth. J. J. Jordan is in charge of the work for the M. E. Rapp interests.

McDONALD RANCH TAILINGS

A drum hoist and cable were recently installed at the McDonald Ranch mine tailings plant, which has increased the power load from 100 to 150 horsepower. A regrinding plant or large ball mill has been installed at the property in order that the mine tailings may be handled with greater profit to the company. Many yards of the tailings are now being worked each day.

GASSOWAY PROPERTY

Frank Taylor, Tonopah mine operator, has taken over the Gassoway property, south of Grass Valley recently. Men are clearing out the old 50 shaft with a small powerful rig. Plans are for extensive explorations in sinking and development. The ground was worked in early days as a gravel property, yielding well.

MATTIE GOLD MINE

A large station and ore pockets was cut at the 300 foot level and the three compartment shaft has been sunk another 100 feet. The company plans to sink to the 900 foot level. Mike Maguire is in charge of operations. The property lies in the Deadman's section of Grass Valley. Thirty men are employed, working three shifts per day.

SAN JUAN MINE

The San Juan mine, north of North San Juan, is sinking and drifting. The shaft is down over 290 feet. Monthly shipments of ore are being made to a Seattle mill. Fifteen men are employed.

SPOTSWOOD MINING COMPANY

The Spotswood Mining Company, near Graniteville, is stoping and storing excellent milling ore from the No. 2 tunnel. Good headway is being made in the No. 3 tunnel where they expect to cut the desired level several hundred feet deeper than the present workings. The company also expects to erect a mill shortly. The Spotswood property is being worked by a stock company, of which E. B. Cushman is secretary.

ANCHO-ERIE MINES

The Anchoe-Erie mine is now stoping and milling ore from between the first and second levels. Arrangements have been about completed to sink on a good ore shoot in the No. 3 tunnel.

SPRING HILL MINE

At present two raises are being sent up from the east 900 foot level at the Spring Hill mine, another raise for the west 900 foot level is to locate the continuation of several minor bodies found on the 500 foot level. So far, 6,000 feet of drilling and 6,000 feet of cross cuts and

"Having driven my 1934 Pontiac 6116 miles, I want to inform you how well-satisfied I am with it.
"... It has speed, power, comfort, acceleration, smoothness, roadability, and ease of handling. From an economy standpoint it may interest you to know I enjoy about seventeen miles to the gallon. I drive fast most all the time and the car is still too new to tell what the final gas mileage consumption will be.
